CHILD CARE & DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT (CCDBG) IN ALASKA

The Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) is the primary federal grant program that allows states to provide child care assistance to low-income working families with children under age 13. In Alaska, 69% of these funds serve children 5 and under.¹ These subsidies provide working parents with access to quality child care in a setting of their choice.

HOW CCDBG WORKS IN ALASKA

Using an established federal formula, funding is awarded by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children and Families (ACF) to states, territories, and tribal entities.

$22,252,537 CCDBG and Mandatory Funds²

$4,379,314 CCDBG State Match³

$8,879,493 TANF Transferred to CCDBG⁴

Through a Lead Agency, states allocate the funds to support:

Families: Eligible families use subsidies to help cover the cost of care (if a provider/program agrees to accept them).

Providers: Lead Agencies work with providers to designate slots for subsidy-eligible children. Funding also helps to recruit and retain a qualified, fairly compensated workforce.

Quality Care: Lead Agencies are required to have child care licensing in place to ensure children are served in quality, safe environments. Funding also supports continuous quality improvement.

CCDBG & FAMILIES WITH YOUNG CHILDREN

CCDBG subsidies help remove barriers to affordable, quality child care. Families receiving a subsidy may choose any participating child care provider (center-based, home-based, those providing nontraditional hour care, etc.).

Under federal rules, children whose parents are employed or participating in training/education programs and whose household income is under 85% of the State Median Income (SMI) are eligible, as are children in need of or receiving child protective services. Lead Agencies have the flexibility to design their own subsidy programs and may also choose to set additional requirements or set lower income eligibility rates.

In Alaska, eligibility is capped at 85% of SMI. This means a family of three is eligible if they make: $5,960 or less per month ($71,520 per year).¹⁰

Lead Agencies can choose to prioritize certain populations. In Alaska, children with special needs and families receiving TANF are served without being placed on a waitlist.¹¹

(Note: Other populations may also be prioritized in different ways).

HOW MUCH DO FAMILIES PAY FOR CARE IN ALASKA?

In Alaska, a family of three with a CCDBG subsidy pays between

$1 per month.¹² $536

Families that do not receive subsidies pay significantly higher costs. For instance, center-based infant care ranges from

$1,220 per month.¹³ $1,789

CCDBG & PROVIDERS

In Alaska, 412 child care providers accept CCDBG subsidies.¹⁴

Child care providers are reimbursed by the state to offset the costs of serving children with subsidies. ACF recommends that Lead Agencies set provider reimbursement rates at the 75th percentile of the market rate, based on data from a market rate survey (MRS).¹⁵ This is the price that the lowest 75% of child care programs reported charging.

However, there is a significant gap between how much providers are reimbursed and how much it costs to provide care. Learn more about provider reimbursement rates here.¹⁶

MONTHLY PROVIDER REIMBURSEMENT RATES IN ALASKA¹⁷

The Consequences: In Alaska, providers are only reimbursed 45% of what it actually costs to care for an infant in a center-based program. Low payment rates make it difficult for providers to maintain fiscal stability and provide high-quality care. Some are forced to charge working families higher fees to compensate.

CCDBG & QUALITY

To receive CCDBG funds, Lead Agencies must have child care licensing requirements in place to ensure children are served in quality, safe environments. These requirements differ by state. Lead Agencies may establish different rules depending on the setting (e.g., center-based, home-based) and may exempt some providers from licensing requirements altogether (e.g., faith-based programs).

Alaska Teacher Qualifications¹⁸

Educators play a crucial role in supporting children's development. Education and training requirements ensure they have the necessary knowledge and skills.

Teacher Minimum Requirements

In most states, there are multiple pathways to qualification. One example in Alaska:

- Age: 18 (16 if they completed a child care training course or demonstrated child care competency, work under adult caregiver supervision, and make up no more than 1/4 of the total on-duty staff.)
- Education: None
- Prior Work Experience: None

Alaska Teacher-Child Ratios¹⁹

Teacher-child ratios are crucial for safety as well as ensuring high-quality and individualized interactions. Providers receiving CCDBG funds must adhere to ratios set by the state.
